West River Land

FOR SALE.

The subscriber will sell at private sale, the plantation on which he & w lives, lately the property of Daniel Murray, esq. This tract contains about 330 acres, and for its size combines as many advantages as any in the state, having been highly improved by clover and plaster, and is well adapted to the growth of tobaco, wheat, corn, &c. It has an extensive meadow well set in timothy, and another of equal size may be set this fall. The improvements are a comfortable frame dwelling, with every necessary out house, say dairy, smokehouse, ice house, &c. with houses sufficient to cure 10,000 lbs. tobacco, nearly all new. There is wood enough for the support of the farm: It is well watered, having several natural streams through it, a pump of excellent water at the door, and a well in the farm yard. In short it will suit the planter, farmer or grazier. As nothing but pecuniary embarrassments induce me to offer this property for sale, a great bargain may be had by early application to the subscriber.

adjoins the lands of Mr. David Robinson and Mr. John Tydings, and is situate near the waters of Magdohy river, in Anne Arundel county. It is under good fences, has comfortable improvements, with plenty of wood, and good water, and to a person with a small family, would be a desirable situation. The sale will take place at 11 o'clock A. M. on the premises.

VALLEY OF JEHOSEPHAT.

The most pleasing feature in the scenery around the city of Jerusalem, is the valley of Jehosephat.
Passing out of the gate of St. Stephens, you descend the hill to the torrent of the Kedron; a bridge leads over its dry and deep bed; it must have been a very narrow, though in winter a rapid stream.
On the left is a grotto, handsomely fitted up, and called the tomb of the Virgin Mary, though it is well known she neither died nor was buried near Jerusalem. Being surprised, however, on the hills by a long and heavy shower of rain, we were glad to take shelter beneath the doorway of this grotto. A few steps beyond the Kedron, you come to the garden of Gethsemane; of all gardens the most interesting and hallowed; but how neglected and decayed! It is surrounded by a kind of low hedge, but the soil is bare, no verdure grows on it, save six fine venerable olive-trees, which have stood here for many centuries.
This spot is at the foot of Olivet, and is beautifully situated; you look up and down the romantic valley; close behind rises the mountain before you are the walls of the devoted city. While lingering here, at evening, and solitary, (for it is not often a footstep passes by.) that night of sorrow and dismay rushes on the imagination, when the Redeemer was betrayed, and forsaken by all even by the loved disciple. Hence the path winds up the Mount of Olives: it is a beautiful hill; the words of the Psalmist, "the mountains around Jerusalem," must not be literally applied, as none are within view save those of Arabia. It is verdant and covered in some parts with olive-trees.
—From the summit you enjoy an admirable view of the city: it is neatly, and very near, and looks, with its valleys around it, exactly like a panorama. Its noble temple of Omar, and large area planted with palms; its narrow streets, ruinous palaces, and towers, are all laid out before you, as you have seen Naples and Corfu in Leicester-square. On the summit are the remains of a church, built by the Empress Helena; and in a small edifice, containing one large and lofty apartment, is shown the print of the last footstep of Christ, when he took his leave of earth. The Fathers should have placed it nearer to Bethany, in order to accord with the account given us in scripture; but it answers the purpose of drawing crowds of pilgrims to the spot. Descending Olivet to the narrow valley of Jehosephat, you soon come to the pillar of Absalom; it has a very antique appearance, and is a pleasing object in the valley; it is of a yellow stone, adorned with half columns, formed into three stages, and terminated in a cupula. London pap.

MELANCHOLY AFFAIR.

We regret to learn that during the performance of the funeral honours of Messrs Jefferson and Adams at Baton-Rouge, on the 9th August last, a rencounter took place between Mr. Anthony Peniston, Attorney for the Commonwealth at that place, and Mr. John B. Potts, formerly a resident of West Baton Rouge, which terminated in the death of the former, in consequence of a wound inflicted by a pistol; he died in about ten minutes. Mr.
P. was a native of Petersburg, and in the 27th year of his age. Thus in the morning of his day, has this promising young man been consigned to a premature grave. Mr.
Potts was immediately taken into custody, and will be tried in October. Petersburg Intell.

WIT.

Wit requires wit in the hearer to comprehend it—a lasting and insuperable objection to its universality.

—Puns, on the contrary, require no wit to make them. Prove this by their well known effect on stupidity in drawing rooms, theatres, &c.

An act of abolition punning would be the destruction of three quarters of what are called the wits of our times, and fifteen sixteenths of the dramatic writers.

RUSSIAN CUSTOMS.

The gathering of the cabbage is, in fact, the Russian vintage season.
On the day that a family is to gather in their cabbage, which they salt, and lay up for the winter, the women invite their female friends and neighbours to come and assist them. On the evening before, they cut the cabbages from the stem, and pull off the outside leaves and earth that may be adhering to them. On the grand day, at the house where the cabbages are collected, the women assemble, dressed in their most brilliant manner, and armed with a sort of cleaver, with a handle in the centre, more or less ornamented, according to the person's rank. They place themselves round a kind of trough, containing the cabbages.
The old women give the signal for action; two of the youngest girls take their places in the middle of the room, and begin to dance an allemande, while the rest of the women sing national songs, and keep time in driving their knives into the trough. When the girls are tired with dancing, two more take their place, always eager to surpass the former, by the grace with which they make their voluptuous movements. The songs continue without intermission, and the cabbages are cut up in the midst of a ball, which lasts from morning till night. Meanwhile, the married women carry on the work, salt the cabbages, and carefully pack them in barrels. In the evening the whole party sit down to supper, after which only the men are admitted, but even then they remain apart from the women.
Glasses of wine and punch go round —dancing begins in a more general manner, and they withdraw at a late hour, to begin the same amusement at another neighbour's till all the harvest is finished. Undoubtedly the lively pleasures of the vintage in Italy, and the south of France, are not to be found in these northern festivals—but sports and holidays, are of so rare occurrence in Siberia, and every thing bears such an aspect of immobility, that a festival, wholly presided over by women, and to which I was admitted by an exception in my favour, must naturally have seemed to me delicious.—Memoirs of a French Sergeant.

LACONICS.

A wealthy doctor who can help a poor man, and will not without a fee, has less sense of humanity than a poor ruffian, who kills a rich man to supply his necessities.—It is something monstrous, to consider a man of a liberal education tearing out the bowels of a poor family, by taking for a visit, what would keep them for a week.—Tatler.

A FAMILY CONNEXION.

A negro passing along Fleet-street, was astonished at hearing a voice call out—"How d'ye do, Massa Mungo, how d'ye do, Snowball?" and on looking up, observed it proceeded from a gilt cage. "Ah, my massa parrot," said Blackee, "you great man here, you live in gold house now; but me know your Fasder very well—he live in bush."
